

BRING COAL AND ANYO MARU WAS RETURN WITH CASE OIL

To load shipments of Australian coal at Newcastle, N. S. W., for discharge at Honolulu, then proceed to the west coast of the United States for a cargo of case oil destined for the southern continent, is mooted as a tentative program for at least six steamers of fair tonnage, to ply the Pacific under the flag of the Gibson line.

The announcement is made here that Australia's imports of case oil from the United States has increased by leaps and bounds until the point has been reached where the regular shippers are unable to cope with the demand. In order to cater to this class of trade, six steamers are now under consideration, contracts having been closed in several instances. The line has been established by the Gibson Company, which has entered into an important agreement with the Standard Oil Company coast branches.

It is pointed out that these steamers in carrying exclusive cargoes of oil from the west coast to Australia would be in a position to enter into the coal trade from Newcastle to Honolulu. To follow the opening of the Panama canal, the Inter-Island Steam Navigation Company, the largest importer of coal in these islands, is preparing for a material increase in the supply to be maintained in this city.

Under the schedule as now arranged for the operation of vessels by the Gibson Company six steamers will follow each other at an interval of about two months.

Manoa Will Miss One Voyage.

The new Matson Navigation steamer Manoa, now completed and reported to have left the East coast of the United States on January 5th for the four voyage to San Francisco and Honolulu by the way of the straits of Magellan, will not follow the new schedule, according to advice received by Castle & Cooke, the local agents. In view of the fact that the liner departed from Newport News the first of the month, it will be impossible to dispatch the steamer from San Francisco on February 17th as set forth in the late schedule of sailings. The Honolulu, it is understood, will take up the sailing assigned to the Manoa. Under the command of Henry F. Weston, the Manoa is predicted to be ready to take up the Manoa sailing. The Manoa is not rated as fast a vessel as the Matsonic and her time from the Atlantic to the Pacific is predicted to occupy about 30 days. The local agents state that they have received no official advice concerning the sailing of the Manoa for San Francisco.

New Tankers Will Call Here.

A number of new steam tankers are expected to make more or less regular calls at Honolulu within the next few months, following the constantly increasing demand for fuel oil upon this port. Four new steamers built for the oil carrying trade and to join the Pacific fleet of the Union Oil Company are to leave Great Britain for the western ocean with the first of this year. With the Associated and Standard Oil Companies, the Union Company is in need of a large number of oil carriers, in order to care for the increased demand for the product of the California oil fields. It is estimated that the present fleets of the three concerns will be more than doubled within three years.

Karnak for the Coast Today.

The Kosmos line freighter Karnak is being prepared to sail for Vancouver and other ports along the Pacific coast today. The vessel has remained at Honolulu for a fortnight, during which time a quantity of European and South American cargo has been discharged. The Karnak was supplied with about 200 cases of preserved plums, and a small amount of bunker coal. The Karnak is expected to get away about 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The Inter-Island steamer W. G. Hall, thoroughly renovated and repainted, will be dispatched for Kauai ports at 5 o'clock this evening. This vessel will relieve the steamer Like-like, which will not take up a tramp run to island ports.

FILLED WITH PASSENGERS

With a thousand persons on board, the Tosa Kisen Kaisha liner Anyo Maru, from the China and Japan coast, appeared off the port this morning, and remained there until early this afternoon, when the vessel steamed for Hilo.

The Anyo Maru carries 790 passengers in transit for Central and South American ports. The voyage is declared to have been one of the worst in the experience of Captain T. Ota, who has been identified with the Japanese line for a number of years. The Anyo Maru sailed from Yokohama on December 25th and met with storms, followed by heavy seas that swept her decks with much fury.

No material damage was done to the steamer. The Anyo Maru has 768 tons of Oriental freight for discharge at Hilo. Three cabin passengers, one a "picture bride," will leave the vessel at that port.

The passengers proceeding to the west coast of Mexico and South America are, with the exception of five, all traveling in the steerage. More than 500 Chinese are included in this number. Deputy Collector of Customs R. C. Stackable and several inspectors accompanied the liner to the Hawaii port.

HARBOR NOTES

The Japanese steamer Anyo Maru is listed for an early dispatch for Hilo today. The vessel remained off the port awaiting the receipt of cables and late mail.

The work of discharging about 2000 tons of general cargo from the Oceanic liner Sierra is being rushed to completion. This vessel is listed for dispatch for San Francisco on Friday noon.

A late wireless report received in this city from the Matson Navigation steamer Honolulu stated that the vessel was 300 miles off port enroute to San Francisco and meeting with good weather.

Due to arrive at Honolulu early Saturday morning, the Japanese steamer Hongkong Maru is bringing a large mail for the islands. There may be a few lay-over passengers aboard the vessel.

The steamer Claudine, an arrival from Maui ports this morning, is to be dispatched over the same route at 5 o'clock tomorrow evening, the vessel taking general cargo, a number of passengers and a late mail.

The placing of numbers on the front and rear of all territorial and private owned wharves will be one of the first acts of the harbor commission. At present but a few of the wharves are designated by their proper names.

PASSENGERS ARRIVED

Claudine a Lonely Arrival.

The Inter-Island steamer Claudine was a sole coastwise arrival this morning, steaming from the Maui ports through rough seas but favorable winds. The Claudine returned with the regulation island products, a considerable shipment of poultry, fruits and vegetables being included in the consignment. According to a report from Purser Kibling, the vessel was unable to land cargo or mails at Kona and Niihau because of rough weather. The Claudine is scheduled to sail for Kahului at 5 o'clock tomorrow evening.

Maui Mills Begin Grinding.

PROPOSED SIGN TO BE VISIBLE DAY AND NIGHT

"A" in letters 12 feet deep, upon a frame 20x150 feet, may be displayed on the face of Punchbowl during the carnival period. This device would not only be visible from downtown by day, but at night would form a magnificent part of the general illumination, set forth in the carnival colors of green and yellow done in electric light. The proposition depends only on the question of expense, as it will cost double what had been originally expected.

At a meeting of the decorations committee at noon today, where much progress was made in various divisions of the subject, a letter from Mr. Farleton was read in which the writer gave an estimate of $1000 for the Punchbowl device, which he made after consultation with Superintendent McGrath of the Hawaiian Electric Company and C. R. Frazier. The matter was ordered put up to the financial management of the carnival.

J. W. Caldwell, superintendent of public works, reported for the committee on illuminating palace grounds. It would be impracticable to procure the searchlight figured on, but the committee had its plans in general well in hand. Supervisor Pacheco had informed the chairman that the city fathers could not furnish either current, labor or material for the capital grounds illumination, all the assistance they could render being in the matter of street corner illumination.

Mr. Afong for the merchants and residence decorations reported a discovery he had made in a store of ready-made material for large wreaths, only the requisite colors not being in stock it would be necessary to cable for a supply. He was authorized to make arrangements for ordering a supply of the material subject to approval of the general management. D. Logan was added to this committee, as its work dovetailed with his lei commission, and he reported progress on the latter account.

A suggestion regarding the economical production of pennants of uniform character was referred to the committee on that subject, the chairman of which was absent.

There was general discussion of different branches of the committee's work. Those in attendance were Chairman E. A. Berndt, Albert Afong, J. W. Caldwell, F. D. Lowrey, T. J. McGrath and D. Logan. The committee will meet again early next week.

IMPORTANT IF TRUE IS THIS CURRENT RUMOR

That a federal commission, named by President Wilson with the advice of Secretary Lane or Secretary Houston, is coming to Hawaii to conduct an investigation of business conditions here resulting from Democratic tariff legislation, is a rumor current in local business circles. It could not be learned today that the rumor is based on any positive information from Washington, and on the other hand, Governor Pinkham said that he has heard nothing of such an investigation.

When asked this morning regarding the report, the governor said: "I have had no intimation of any such action. I would be inclined to regard it as rather premature."

The husband alleged faithlessness, and the woman was convicted of a statutory offense in district court recently as a result of his complaint. On this showing legal separation was denied.

In settlement of a suit threatened by the territory for back rental on a tract of about 72 acres in the district of South Hilo the Pepee Sugar Company yesterday paid $2664 to the territory, a result of a compromise. It appears the tract, which had been used by the company a number of years for cane growing, was found to belong to the territory, though the company so firmly believed it owned the acreage that it carried the matter into court. The supreme court eventually declared in the territory's favor, on December 2, 1910.

The Irmandade de Nossa Senhora do Monte de Kailhi valley, a religious society which conducts annually in August the Feast of Our Lady of the Mount, was granted a charter of incorporation yesterday. The charter is for 50 years, no stock is issued or held and no dividends will be declared. In conjunction with the annual feast the organization holds a bazaar and other festival adjuncts after the manner of the celebration near Funchal, island of Madeira. The incorporators are J. J. Caldera, Augusto F. Nobrega, Frank Perry, Jose Gomes Camacho and Manuel Rodrigues do Espirito Santo.

Alleging she was already married to Chow Chiu, a resident of the territory, when she landed at Honolulu on November 10, a petition for a writ of habeas corpus was filed in federal court yesterday afternoon by Chow Chiu's attorneys on behalf of Wong She, who is held by immigration inspector Richard L. Halsey. The inspector, after a careful investigation, declared she was not married, and avers now that Chow Chiu went to the immigration station after she had arrived, asking permission to be married to her. He was denied the privilege, and Halsey insists she is still an unmarried woman. The court in response to the petition issued an order requiring the inspector to appear in court and show cause. The hearing on the order is set for January 12.

SOLDIERS ADMIT FIRING REVOLVER NEW YEAR'S MORN

High carnival, in which much liquor was consumed, is declared to have been held forth at the Kapahulu home of John G. Howard, a colored soldier, from whose place it is believed the bullet was fired that killed Leong Nee, an elderly and well-known Chinese on New Year's morning.

Determining from whose revolver the bullet that penetrated the heart of the Chinese was fired today is occupying the time and attention of Deputy Sheriff and Coroner Charles Rose.

To an inquest begun at 10 o'clock this morning and which bids fair to continue for another day, a score of witnesses have been summoned. According to the statements made today, a crowd of colored soldiers with their wives and female companions, and a delegation of Hawaiian musicians were feeling pretty good as the old year passed into history.

Henry Walker, colored, declared that everybody was eating, drinking and dancing. The advent of the new year was heralded by a general firing of a number of revolvers. Walker admitted having brought 100 rounds of ammunition, one-half being blanks, while the remainder carried ball.

"We all had been drinking pretty freely," stated Walker. In this declaration he was upheld by Howard. Howard insisted that he fired several shots from a revolver while standing in front of the yard. "The gun was pointed upward, when someone else came along and took the weapon from me and discharged the remaining cartridges," he said.

Howard and Walker stated that practically all present took a hand in the discharge of firearms. The home of Leong Nee, the aged Chinese, was almost directly opposite the place where the soldiers had gathered.

Walker mentioned a number of colored non-commissioned officers and soldiers and their ladies present, including George Williams, M. Dennis, Arthur Pettit, Corporals Collins and Waterhouse, Sergeants Swan and Page, as well as Mrs. Howard, Mrs. Pettit, Miss Harper, Mrs. Jones.

Sergeants Swan and Waterhouse are said to have remained within doors and not to have participated in the firing.

Walker and Howard readily identified their revolvers when offered for inspection by the coroner. The witnesses called this morning insisted that when the news of the death of the Chinese was received all stopped shooting, while several of the colored soldiers secured an automobile and hastened to the city to report the fatality to police headquarters.

All shots were declared to have been fired from the yard, the witnesses being emphatic in a denial that some of the shot were discharged from the house.

Consul Woo Huan, representing the Chinese republic, and his deputies are in attendance at the inquest.

AITAKU MARU TURNED TURTLE IN STORM IS REPORT FROM TOKIO

(Special Cable to the Nippon Jiji.)

TOKIO, Japan, Jan. 7.—The details of the wreck of the steamer Aitaku Maru, a coasting vessel of 56 tons displacement, were received here this morning. The heavy winds and seas, which accompanied the gale which swept the southwestern coast of Japan the early part of this week, caused the vessel to turn turtle as she was steaming off the coast of Towa Bay, Jan. at 1:30 o'clock on the afternoon of January 5. It is reported that, of the 130 passengers on board, the majority of whom were students, 110 were drowned. The Aitaku Maru, which went to the aid of the distressed steamer, succeeded in saving the lives of 20 persons. It is said that the captain of the Aitaku Maru, realizing that it would be impossible for him to bring his vessel into the bay, and that she would soon be overtaken by the great waves, bade farewell to the passengers, entered his cabin and locked the door. He is among the missing. Among the passengers lost was the mayor of a small town, his wife and their 10 children, who were returning to their home from a relative's wedding. Two torpedo boat destroyers have been dispatched to the scene of the wreck from the Yokosuka navy yard.

SOLDIERS' FATE NOW IN HANDS OF THE JURY

Although the murder trial of the two soldiers, George James Joseph Lyons and Ray C. Smith, was concluded at 11:25 o'clock this morning, the jury had not returned a verdict at 3 o'clock this afternoon and it was generally thought at the latter hour that the jurors will disagree.

The trial was finished speedily this morning, the attorneys for the defense taking only about two hours to present their case and only one of these, Attorney S. F. Chillingworth, addressing the jury. He spoke about 10 minutes. County Attorney Cathcart spoke 15 or 20 minutes while L. M. Straus, representing Smith, rested his case as soon as he had presented his evidence. Only character witnesses were introduced for the prisoners, three members of the 4th cavalry, to which both prisoners belonged, taking the stand.
